Do Custom Baby pillows make a good gift

Baby showers were meant for the purpose of accumulating a good amount of baby essentials. Blankets and other baby care products are given by almost everyone invited. How does one stand out and yet give a practical gift? How about a custom baby pillow ... original, different and yet, usable.

It is one of the most effortless things in the world to personalize a baby pillow all by yourself. Summon all the style and creativity you possess, add a unique baby design, throw in comfortable looking hues and personalize it keeping in mind the baby you are gifting it to. If you lack an eye for colour, a pink baby pillow for the girl and a blue baby pillow for the boy, could be thoughtful thinking. You could choose to skip tradition and experiment with the baby pillow colourful eye catching hues as well.

As the baby pillow is meant as a gift for the baby, one can indulge in numerous liberties. A number of frills can be indulged in while making a baby pillow. A baby pillow is meant to comfort the child in the crib, not protect it per se. This gives you a chance to explore various creative options while making the gift.

The latest and most popular way to accessorize and personalize a baby pillow is by getting the photo of the baby printed on it. This can be done by logging onto the net and choosing from the various online printing services on offer. The sites provide various options with regard to frames, designs, etc that you can toy with for a baby pillow. A baby pillow does not have to be the end of your creativity; a matching blanket is sure to be appreciated as well. Photos of the pregnant mother and first picture of the entire family are cute alternatives to be used on the baby pillow.

Commercially available baby shower gifts are passe. The personalized gifts are the ones that are going to be most treasured by the family and might even be turned into family heirlooms. The gift holds a special place when it is custom made; more so if it has been made by you specially for the baby. A personalized baby pillow is an ideal gift.

Babies don't have the same needs or opinions as their parents. However, necessary a parent might deem it to place a baby pillow in the crib, it is dangerous to a newborn in light that the baby could be suffocated. Safe bedding for infants is more important than comfortable bedding to adults and most experts take the stance that less nursery bedding is best.

Baby sleep pillows are not considered safe for children under the age of two. Another reason beyond the issue of possible suffocation that would prevent me ever putting pillows in my baby's crib would be that a pillow might raise a standing baby to a height where they could easily fall over the crib rails. So, there are many reasons why you should wait until your child is in a toddler bed before considering a pillow in his or her bed crib.
